"The Live Fly gives me the possibility to easily vision mix my various sources. Also I can program any key exactly where I need it. For example I can press a key and I can playback the media player and at the same time activate the DSK, without programming macros."

"I'm mostly working as a one-man-band when doing live-streams. In many events, such as press conferences; I can operate the camera and vision mix at the same time. When doing more complicated setups I configured the Live Fly to playback the media players of the ATEM switcher for doing lower thirds, for example."
